

Website User Privacy Policy

Lumis

Multimedia provides this Privacy Statement to supply our website, product and service users with information regarding our commitment to your privacy. The following terms outline our information gathering and marketing practices for this website.

When you

visit our site, certain information is retained to allow us to improve and provide better services for our clients. For each visitor to our website, our server automatically records the IP address of that visitor. We use the IP address to help diagnose problems with our server, tailor our services to meet demands, and to administer our Web site.

When you contact us via email or purchase a product or service from Lumis Multimedia, we collect the e-mail addresses of those who communicate and information volunteered by them, such as account registration.

The information we collect is used to provide technical support, notify customers and visitors about updates to our Web site, to contact customers and is NOT and will NEVER be shared with any other organizations for commercial purposes.

If you do not want to receive e-mail from us in the future, please let us know by sending an email to us at the email address that is shown above, telling us that you do not want to receive e-mail from our company. Your email or postal request will be acted on promptly when we receive it but please understand that emails or postal mail may be sent between the time you send your request and when we can act on it. If you are subscribed to our newsletter, you can simply use the unsubscribe form on our website to remove your email address from our newsletter mailing list.

This site contains links to other sites. Lumis is not responsible for the privacy practices or the content of such Web sites.
